26 Attorneys for Plaintiff and the Putative Class

27 UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
28 NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
SAN FRANCISCO DIVISION

29 JANE DOE, as the representative of her 30 minor son, and on behalf of all others 31 similarly situated,

32 Plaintiff,

33 v.

34 UNITED BEHAVIORAL HEALTH and 35 UNITED HEALTHCARE SERVICES,
36 INC.,

37 Defendants.

Case No. 3:19-cv-7316

CLASS ACTION COMPLAINT

1 Plaintiff Jane Doe, a pseudonym (“Plaintiff”),¹ complains as follows as a representative of 2 her minor son, John Doe, and on behalf of all others similarly situated, based on the best of her 3 knowledge, information and belief, formed after an inquiry reasonable under the circumstances 4 by herself and her undersigned counsel, against Defendants:

5 INTRODUCTION

6 1. Plaintiff’s son, John Doe, is a minor (currently age 13) who has been diagnosed 7 with Autism Spectrum Disorder (“ASD” or “autism”). As a result of his condition, John has 8 severe difficulties interacting with the world around him. As he has entered adolescence, John has 9 shown increasing aggression, including violent outbursts, making it extremely difficult for his 10 mother, with whom he resides, to provide him with safe and effective care. John’s healthcare 11 providers have continuously recommended that he receive a treatment called Applied Behavior 12 Analysis (“ABA”) for his ASD.

13 2. ABA is generally accepted as an effective form of treatment for minors with ASD.
14 ABA is a type of therapy that focuses on specific maladaptive or stereotypic behaviors and targets 15 social skills and adaptive learning skills (fine motor dexterity, hygiene, grooming, domestic 16 capabilities, punctuality, and vocational competence). It has been shown through substantial 17 research that consistent ABA can significantly improve behaviors and skills for autistic patients.
18 Indeed, the American Academy of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry (“AACAP”) reports that of 19 all clinical non-educational interventions, ABA has been the most widely shown in scientific 20 research to improve the ability of autism patients to adapt to their environment and engage with 21 those around them. By contrast, the AACAP reports in its Practice Parameter for the Assessment 22

23 ¹ Plaintiff challenges Defendants’ denial of intensive behavioral therapy for her son who has been 24 diagnosed with Autism Spectrum Disorder. Because Plaintiff is filing on behalf of her minor son 25 and mental illness remains subject to pervasive stigma, Plaintiff has legitimate concerns about 26 publicly disclosing her or her son’s identity. Thus, Plaintiff has chosen to file this action 27 pseudonymously, using “Jane Doe” for herself and “John Doe” for her son. Her identity and that 28 of her son will be fully disclosed to Defendants and to the Court, so long as such identifying information is not released into the public record. Plaintiff’s motion to proceed under a pseudonym will be filed nearly contemporaneously with this complaint, pending assignment of a judge and case number.

1 and Treatment of Children and Adolescents with Autism Spectrum Disorder (2014), that there is a 2 lack of evidence for most other forms of psychosocial intervention for ASD.

3 3. Studies have further demonstrated that ABA is most successful when intensely 4 applied for up to 40 hours a week and beginning at as early an age as possible.

5 4. Plaintiff sought coverage under John's father's health benefits plan for John to 6 begin ABA treatment, but Defendants denied coverage, relying upon a plan term that purports to 7 exclude coverage for Intensive Behavioral Therapies ("IBT") for mental health conditions like 8 ABA for autism. The IBT Exclusion, however, violates the Paul Wellstone and Pete Domenici 9 Mental Health Parity and Addiction Equity Act of 2008 ("Federal Parity Act"), codified at 29 10 U.S.C. § 1185a. As a result, the exclusion is unenforceable as a matter of federal law and 11 Defendants' application of it to deny coverage to Plaintiff's son breached their fiduciary duties 12 under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 ("ERISA"), 29 U.S.C. § 1001 et 13 seq.

14 5. Through this action, Plaintiff seeks to enforce ERISA and the Federal Parity Act, 15 on behalf of her son and all others similarly situated who have been injured as a result of 16 Defendants' implementation of illegal and discriminatory IBT exclusions in self-funded plans.

17 THE PARTIES

18 6. Plaintiff's son is insured as a beneficiary under the Wipro Limited Plan (the 19 "Wipro Plan" or the "Plan"), which is a self-funded large group, non-grandfathered commercial 20 policy sponsored by John's father's employer, Wipro Limited. The Wipro Plan, identified as a 21 UnitedHealthcare "Choice Plus (CDHP) Option 1" plan, is governed by ERISA and is 22 administered by Defendants. Plaintiff and her son reside in Union City, California.

23 7. Defendant United Healthcare Services, Inc. ("UHS"), a subsidiary of UnitedHealth 24 Group ("UHG" and, together with Defendants, "United") and a claims administrator of health 25 insurance plans issued by United nationwide, is based in Minnetonka, Minnesota. UHS is the 26 designated "Claims Administrator" for the Wipro Plan and other self-funded plans administered 27 by United, with the delegated fiduciary responsibility to make all final and binding coverage 28 determinations under the plans.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

I. Defendants Know ABA is Effective for Treating ASD.

13. On June 17, 2016, UnitedHealth Group, the parent corporation of both Defendants, announced that, effective January 1, 2017, it would extend ABA coverage to all of its fully insured health plans (i.e., those for which United underwrites the plans for a premium and pays the medical expenses out of its own assets). In making this announcement, United noted that as of May 2016, 46 states and the Virgin Islands had already mandated ABA coverage for the treatment of autism under fully insured health insurance plans. Thus, United's change in policy merely extended ABA coverage to the few states that had not yet mandated it. (Currently, all 50 states mandate some form of coverage for ABA.)

14. However, United's policy change and the state mandates do not apply to the self-funded plans, like the WiPro Plan, that United continues to administer (i.e., those plans that pay United an administrative fee to serve as a claims administrator, while benefits are paid from an employer/plan sponsor's own assets). With respect to self-funded plans, any state laws are completely preempted by ERISA.

15. Operating under the name Optum, UBH has issued a clinical policy concerning ABA, entitled "Behavioral Clinical Policy: Applied Behavioral Analysis," which it uses to administer ABA benefits when plans cover them. In describing the service, UBH states:

ABA is a scientific discipline among the helping professions that focuses on the analysis, design, implementation, and evaluation of social and other environmental modifications to produce meaningful changes in human behavior. ABA includes the use of direct observation, measurement, and functional analysis of the relations between environment and behavior. ABA uses changes in environmental events, including antecedent stimuli and consequences, to produce practical and significant changes in behavior. ABA is based on the fact that an individual's behavior is determined by past and current environmental events in conjunction with organic variables such as their genetic endowment and physiological variables. Thus, when applied to ASD, ABA focuses on treating the problem of the disorder by altering the individual's social and learning environments.

1 16. UBH's clinical policy holds that ABA "is proven for the treatment of autism 2 spectrum disorder" when appropriately provided by a health care professional with proper 3 training. It further specifies that, once a patient is diagnosed with ASD and is offered a treatment 4 plan, UBH will approve ABA coverage for up to 8 hours per day or 40 hours per week.

5 17. UBH's clinical policy also summarizes the clinical evidence in support of the 6 treatment's efficacy, noting that "[c]onclusions from several recent systematic reviews and meta-7 analyses suggest that the evidence to support the use of applied behavior analysis for ASD has 8 improved, particularly over the last decade," with "[a] number of these studies report[ing] 9 medium to large effects of intensive behavioral therapies on improvements in communication and 10 adaptive behavior."

11 18. Despite recognizing the effectiveness of ABA and the illegality of excluding such 12 treatment from coverage, United continues to enforce ABA exclusions when administering self-13 funded plans, like the Wipro Plan. It does so because this increases the likelihood that UBH will 14 be retained by the self-funded plan sponsors to administer their plans. This is highly significant, 15 since approximately 78% of United's business involves self-funded plans.

16 II. Defendants are the Claims Administrators for the Wipro Plan 17 and Owe Fiduciary Duties to Plaintiff's Son.

18 19. The Wipro Plan explicitly identifies Defendant UHS as the "Claims 19 Administrator" for the Plan, and states that "Wipro Limited has delegated to the Claims 20 Administrator the discretion and authority to decide whether a treatment or supply is a Covered 21 Health Service and how the Eligible Expenses will be determined and otherwise covered under 22 the Plan." The Plan further states that the use of the words "Claims Administrator" in the Plan "is 23 a reference to United HealthCare Services, Inc., on behalf of itself and its affiliated companies." 24 As the Plan's designated Claims Administrator, and as the entity who administers claims for 25 medical/surgical benefits under the plan, Defendant UHS is a fiduciary under ERISA.

26 20. As the Claims Administrator, UHS delegated to its affiliated company, Defendant 27 UBH, final and binding responsibility to make all benefit determinations regarding behavioral 28 health services, including those services sought by Plaintiff to treat her son's ASD. UBH's

1 discretionary authority is confirmed in adverse benefit determination letters UBH sent to Plaintiff
2 to report that ABA would not be covered, in which UBH states: “United Behavioral Health 3 (UBH) is responsible for making benefit determinations for mental health and substance abuse 4 services that are provided to UBH members.” As the behavioral health claims administrator for 5 the Wipro Plan, Defendant UBH is also a fiduciary under ERISA.

6 21. As ERISA fiduciaries, Defendants owe the participants and beneficiaries of the 7 plans they administer fiduciary duties, including the duties of prudence, due care, and loyalty.
8 ERISA specifies that fiduciaries must discharge their duties solely in the interests of plan 9 beneficiaries and participants, and “in accordance with the documents and instruments governing 10 the plan insofar as such documents and instruments are consistent with the provisions of” ERISA.
11 See 29 U.S.C. § 1104. This means that, among other things, Defendants owe plan participants 12 and beneficiaries a fiduciary duty to comply with ERISA, and must not enforce plan terms that 13 create illusory benefits or violate the law.

14 22. ERISA not only imposes liability where a fiduciary itself breaches its duties, but 15 also where a fiduciary participates in another fiduciary’s breach, or where the fiduciary knows 16 about another fiduciary’s breach but does not take reasonable steps to stop it. Indeed, ERISA even 17 imposes liability on non-fiduciaries who knowingly participate in a fiduciary’s breach.

18 III. ERISA Requires Behavioral Health, if Covered at all, to be 19 Covered at Parity with Medical/Surgical Conditions.

20 23. The Paul Wellstone and Pete Domenici Mental Health Parity and Addiction Equity 21 Act of 2008 (“Federal Parity Act”), codified at 29 U.S.C. § 1185a, amended ERISA to prohibit 22 discrimination with respect to mental health and substance use disorder benefits. Because the 23 parity provisions were inserted into ERISA, they are enforceable through ERISA’s enforcement 24 provision, 29 U.S.C. § 1132.

25 24. Since the addition of the parity provisions, ERISA requires any group health plan 26 (like the Wipro Plan), which “provides both medical and surgical benefits and mental health or 27 substance use disorder benefits,” to ensure that: 28

1 (ii) the treatment limitations applicable to such mental health or 2 substance use disorder benefits are no more restrictive than the 3 predominant treatment limitations applied to substantially all 4 medical and surgical benefits covered by the plan (or coverage) and there are no separate treatment limitations that are applicable only with respect to mental health or substance use disorder benefits.

5 25. ERISA’s implementing regulations explain that “treatment limitations” may be 6 quantitative (expressed numerically) or non-quantitative, which otherwise limit the scope or 7 duration of benefits for treatment under a plan or coverage. An exclusion of benefits for specific 8 services—especially for the services most widely recognized as the primary treatment for 9 otherwise covered conditions—constitutes an illegal treatment limitation if it is solely imposed on 10 mental health and/or substance use benefits.

11 IV. The Wipro Plan’s IBT Exclusion Applies to Behavioral Health 12 Conditions Only, and Thus Violates Parity.

13 26. The Wipro Plan explicitly covers neurobiological disorders, expressly including 14 Autism Spectrum Disorder, at all levels of care. In describing covered services, the Plan states:

15 The Plan pays Benefits for psychiatric services for Autism 16 Spectrum Disorder (otherwise known as neurodevelopmental disorders) that are both the following:

- 17 • Provided by or under the direction of an experienced 18 psychiatrist and/or an experienced licensed psychiatric provider;
- 19 • Focused on treating maladaptive/stereotypic behaviors that are 20 posing danger to self, others and property and impairment in daily functions.

21 27. Although ASD is expressly covered, the Wipro Plan explicitly excludes coverage 22 for “Intensive Behavioral Therapies such as Applied Behavior Analysis for Autism Spectrum 23 Disorders” (the “IBT Exclusion”). The IBT Exclusion applies only to mental health and 24 substance use disorder services (often collectively called “behavioral health services”), including 25 services for autism.

26 28. The IBT Exclusion in the Wipro Plan appears under the heading “Mental Health/27 Substance Use Disorder,” in a section that enumerates exclusions that “apply to services 28

1 described under Mental Health Services, Neurobiological Disorders – Autism Spectrum Disorder 2 Services and/or Substance-Related and Addictive Disorders Services.”

3 29. Although this section lists “neurobiological disorders” as though they fall in a 4 separate category from mental health conditions, in fact the Plan makes clear that such disorders, 5 including autism, are mental health conditions. The Wipro plan defines “Mental Illness” as “those 6 mental health or psychiatric diagnostic categories listed in the current edition of the International 7 Classification of Diseases section on Mental and Behavioral Disorders or the Diagnostic and 8 Statistical Manual of the American Psychiatric Association.” The plan further defines “Mental 9 Health Services” as “Covered Health Services for the diagnosis and treatment of those mental 10 health or psychiatric categories that are listed in the current edition of the International 11 Classification of Diseases section on Mental and Behavioral Disorders or the Diagnostic and 12 Statistical Manual of the American Psychiatric Association.”

13 30. The current editions of the International Classification of Diseases section on 14 Mental and Behavioral Disorders and the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of the American 15 Psychiatric Association both expressly categorize autism as a mental disorder.

16 31. No other provision in the Wipro Plan purports to make the IBT Exclusion 17 applicable to medical or surgical conditions, nor is there any other comparable exclusion of 18 coverage for “intensive” therapies for medical or surgical conditions.

19 32. The IBT Exclusion, therefore, is a separate treatment limitation that applies only to 20 behavioral health services. As such, the IBT Exclusion violates the Federal Parity Act provisions 21 of ERISA, 29 U.S.C. § 1185a, which require ERISA plans to treat behavioral health conditions, 22 including ASD, in “parity” with medical/surgical conditions. By categorically excluding coverage 23 of intensive therapies (like ABA) solely for behavioral health disorders (such as ASD), while 24 continuing to provide coverage for the primary, most widely recognized treatments for covered 25 medical/surgical conditions, the IBT Exclusion imposes a separate treatment limitation 26 exclusively on covered behavioral health conditions and thereby violates parity.

27 33. As the designated Claims Administrator for the Wipro Plan, and as the delegated 28 behavioral health claims administrator for the Plan, Defendants UHS and UBH both know or 1 should know the terms of the Plan and know or should know that the IBT Exclusion, on its face, 2 applies solely to behavioral health conditions.

3 V. As ERISA Fiduciaries, Defendants are Prohibited from 4 Enforcing the Illegal IBT Exclusion.

5 34. As ERISA fiduciaries, Defendants are required to interpret plan terms in a 6 reasonable manner and to ensure that the ERISA plans they administer comply with ERISA.
7 Thus, Defendants are prohibited as ERISA fiduciaries from applying plan provisions that 8 unreasonably restrict coverage or violate ERISA, including its parity provisions. Thus, because 9 the IBT Exclusion contained in the Wipro Plan violates ERISA, Defendants, as ERISA 10 fiduciaries, are prohibited from enforcing the exclusion.

11 35. Similarly, ERISA plans such as the Wipro Plan must be interpreted to incorporate 12 substantive ERISA requirements like the parity provision, so as to avoid creating conflicts 13 between the Plan and the statutory mandates. Thus, when making benefit determinations, 14 Defendants must interpret the Wipro Plan to cover ABA, so as to avoid making benefit decisions 15 that violate ERISA.

16 36. As explained further below, Defendants failed to satisfy these fiduciary obligations 17 when UBH applied the illegal IBT Exclusion to deny coverage to Plaintiff's son.

18 VI. Defendant UBH Denied Coverage for John's ABA.

19 37. Plaintiff has sought authorization from United for ABA coverage for her son since 20 2016, when he was nine. Despite numerous requests and repeated appeals, including 21 communications from both Plaintiff and her son's providers, Defendants have consistently denied 22 coverage based on the IBT Exclusion in the Wipro Plan and Plaintiff's previous plan, which was 23 also a self-funded plan that contained an IBT Exclusion.

24 38. Plaintiff lives with her son on a modest income and cannot afford to pay for ABA, 25 so John currently remains unable to obtain such treatment, which he desperately needs. Because 26 John has not been able to receive ABA, he has repeatedly decompensated, required police 27 interventions and hospitalization, and Plaintiff has incurred substantial emergency medical 28 expenses.

1 39. After one particularly violent incident in May of 2019, Plaintiff again sought 2 coverage for ABA for John. Although UBH's case notes reflect that UBH recognized that ABA 3 was the appropriate treatment for John, UBH denied coverage.

4 40. By letter dated May 8, 2019, UBH issued an initial adverse benefit determination 5 letter confirming that it would not cover ABA for John under the Wipro Plan, stating:

6 United Behavioral Health (UBH) is responsible for making
7 coverage determinations for mental health and substance abuse
8 services that are provided to UBH members. The available of 9 benefit coverage for a service is determined by the terms of your benefit plan. . . .

10 I have reviewed the request for your child's treatment and I have 11 determined that coverage is not available under your child's benefit plan for the requested services of intensive behavioral therapies.

12 As noted in the Summary Benefit Description for Wipro LTD on 13 page 74, intensive behavioral therapies such as applied behavioral 14 analysis for Autism Spectrum Disorder are excluded under the plan.

15 (emphasis added).

16 41. Plaintiff submitted an urgent appeal from that denial on June 17, 2019, and 17 expressly put UBH on notice that the IBT Exclusion violated ERISA and that UBH's failure to 18 authorize ABA precluded John from attaining maximal function.

19 42. More than a month later, on July 22, 2019, UBH denied the urgent appeal, stating:

20 United Behavioral Health (UBH) is responsible for making
21 coverage determinations for mental health and substance abuse 22 services that are provided to UBH members. The available of benefit coverage for a service is determined by the terms of your benefit plan. . . .

23 You requested an appeal of the previous full denial of Applied 24 Behavioral Analysis (ABA). . . . I have determined the previous 25 decision will be upheld. Your child's Summary Plan Description 26 for Wipro LTD section pertaining to Exclusions states that 27 Intensive Behavioral Therapies such as Applied Behavioral 28 Analysis for Autism Spectrum Disorders are excluded from benefit coverage. Therefore, this service is non-covered and excluded from insurance benefit coverage. Your child can have the following services instead of ABA: Outpatient counseling,

1 Medication Management, Academic services provided through the 2 Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

3 (emphasis added).

4 43. Consistent with the Wipro Plan's appeal requirements, John's father faxed an 5 urgent, second-level appeal to UBH on August 9, 2019 and again (with supplements) on August 6 11, 2019.

7 44. UBH issued a "final adverse determination" letter nearly a month later, on 8 September 4, 2019, in which it stated:

9 United Behavioral Health (UBH) is responsible for making benefit 10 coverage determinations for mental health and substance use 11 disorder services that are provided to UBH members . . .

12 You requested an appeal of the previous full denial, of Applied 13 Behavior Analysis (ABA). I have reviewed the Optum Behavioral 14 Clinical Policy Applied Behavioral Analysis for Autism Spectrum 15 Disorder I reviewed your child's benefit plan I reviewed the 16 available clinical information on this request. I have determined the 17 previous decision will be upheld. Your child's Summary Plan Description for WIPRO LTD section pertaining to Exclusions states that intensive behavioral therapies such as Applied Behavior Analysis for Autism Spectrum Disorders are excluded from benefit coverage. This exclusion was in both the 2018 and 2019 plan documents. Therefore, this service is non-covered and excluded from insurance benefit coverage.

18 (emphasis added.)

19 45. UBH's September 4, 2019 letter further states, "[t]his is the Final Adverse 20 Determination of your internal appeal. All internal appeals through UBH have been exhausted."

21 46. Thus, consistent with the policy and practice announced by United in 2017, 22 Defendant UBH applied and enforced the self-funded Wipro Plan's illegal IBT Exclusion to 23 preclude coverage for John's ABA, in violation of its fiduciary duties under ERISA.

24 47. Defendant UHS, who delegated to UBH the responsibility for administering 25 behavioral health benefits under the Plan, knows or should know that UBH's policy and practice 26 is to enforce IBT Exclusions contained in self-funded plans. Because Defendant UHS did not 27
28

1 take reasonable steps to prevent its co-fiduciary from violating its fiduciary duties, UHS is 2 equally liable under ERISA for the fiduciary breach.

3 VII. Defendants' Breaches of Fiduciary Duty Have Harmed, and 4 Continue to Harm, Plaintiff's Son.

5 48. By applying and enforcing the Wipro Plan's illegal IBT Exclusion, Defendant 6 UBH has rendered the Plan's coverage of autism treatment a near nullity, since UBH has 7 interpreted the Plan to preclude coverage for the most effective treatment for that mental health 8 condition. UBH has also subjected Plaintiff's son to discrimination by interpreting the Plan to 9 provide substantially inferior coverage for his autism than it does for medical/surgical conditions.
10 In addition, because UBH's coverage determinations were based on the illegal IBT Exclusion, its 11 denials of coverage for John's ABA treatment were wrongful and caused him injury.

12 49. Moreover, Plaintiff is unable to afford to pay for John's ABA treatment out-of-13 pocket. As result, UBH's denial of Plaintiff's repeated requests for pre-authorization of coverage 14 have precluded, and continue to preclude John from receiving ABA treatment at all.

15 CLASS CLAIMS

16 50. It is United's announced policy and practice to continue to apply IBT Exclusions 17 that are contained in self-funded plans administered by United companies, including Defendants 18 UHS and UBH. Defendants continue to enforce these exclusions even though the exclusions 19 violate ERISA, including its parity protections.

20 51. Moreover, on information and belief, United companies, including UHS, regularly 21 offer self-funded plans the option of incorporating an IBT Exclusion into their plans. As a result, 22 many United plans in addition to the Wipro Plan contain substantively the same illegal exclusion 23 of coverage for intensive therapies for behavioral health conditions, and Defendant UBH, with the 24 knowledge and acquiescence of Defendant UHS, consistently applies and enforces such 25 exclusions to deny coverage for such behavioral health services to participants and beneficiaries 26 of those plans. Thus, Defendants have harmed the class members in the same way as they have 27 harmed Plaintiff's son.
28

1 52. To address these ERISA violations, Plaintiff, as a representative of her minor son, 2 seeks relief on his behalf and behalf of the following Class:

3 All participants or beneficiaries in self-funded ERISA plans 4 administered by United Healthcare Services, Inc. and United 5 Behavioral Health that contain an exclusion of coverage for 6 Intensive Behavioral Therapies applicable solely to mental health or 7 substance use disorder services (including Applied Behavioral 8 Analysis for Autism Spectrum Disorder), whose requests for 9 coverage for Intensive Behavioral Therapy were denied by UBH 10 based on such exclusion.

11 53. Common class claims and issues exist for the Class, including, but not limited to, 12 the following:

- 13 a. Whether Defendants are ERISA fiduciaries;
- 14 b. Whether an IBT Exclusion violates ERISA's parity protections, 29 U.S.C.
15 § 1185a;
- 16 c. Whether Defendant UBH's legal duties (fiduciary or otherwise) prohibited 17 it from applying the IBT Exclusion because the exclusion violates ERISA's 18 parity protections;
- 19 d. Whether Defendant UHS's legal duties (fiduciary or otherwise) required it 20 to take reasonable actions to prevent Defendant UBH from applying the 21 illegal IBT Exclusion, and whether UHS did so; and
- 22 e. What remedies are available for Defendants' ERISA violations.

23 54. The members of the Class are so numerous that joinder of all members is 24 impracticable. Defendants are among the largest claims administrators in the country. While the 25 number of class members is solely within the possession of Defendants, Plaintiff in good faith 26 believes that the Class consists of at least hundreds if not thousands of ERISA beneficiaries.

27 55. Common questions of law and fact exist as to all members of the Class and 28 predominate over any questions affecting solely individual members of the Class, including the class action claims and issues listed above.

 56. Plaintiff's claims are typical of the claims of the Class members because, as alleged herein, the IBT Exclusion applied to deny coverage to Plaintiff's son was also applied to deny coverage to the other members of the Class.

1 beneficiaries. In doing so, UBH breached its fiduciary duties to Plaintiff's son and the members 2 of the class.

3 63. UBH's application of the illegal IBT Exclusion, moreover, rendered UBH's denial 4 of coverage to Plaintiff's son wrongful and a violation of ERISA.

6 COUNT II
Claim for Injunctive Relief Against Defendant UBH

7 64. Plaintiff incorporates by reference the preceding paragraphs as though such 8 paragraphs were fully stated herein.

9 65. Plaintiff brings this count, on behalf of her son and all others similarly situated, 10 pursuant to ERISA, 29 U.S.C. § 1132(a)(3)(A), only to the extent that the Court finds that the 11 injunctive relief available pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 1132(a)(1)(B) is inadequate to remedy the 12 violations alleged in Count I.

13 66. Plaintiff and the Class have been harmed, and are likely to be harmed in the future, 14 by Defendant UBH's breaches of fiduciary duty and/or violations of ERISA and its parity 15 provisions described above.

16 67. In order to prevent UBH's ongoing violations of ERISA, and the harm those 17 violations cause, Plaintiff and the Class are entitled to enjoin these acts and practices pursuant to 18 29 U.S.C. § 1132(a)(3)(A).

19 20 COUNT III
Claim for Appropriate Equitable Relief Against Defendant UBH

21 68. Plaintiff incorporates by reference the preceding paragraphs as though such 22 paragraphs were fully stated herein.

23 69. Plaintiff brings this count, on behalf of her son and all others similarly situated, 24 pursuant to ERISA, 29 U.S.C. § 1132(a)(3)(B), only to the extent that the Court finds that the 25 equitable relief available pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 1132(a)(1)(B) is inadequate to remedy the 26 violations alleged in Count I.

1 B. Declaring that Defendants violated their legal obligations in the manner described 2 herein;

3 C. Declaring that the IBT exclusions in Plaintiff's son's and the class members' plans 4 violate ERISA's parity provisions and are therefore void and unenforceable as a matter of law;

5 D. Permanently enjoining Defendants from enforcing the IBT exclusions at issue
